Kurmitha Batikar-P.O. Dist. Birbhum (Bengal) 10-11-27

Dear Sir,

Recently I had the honor to be at the Chhatapur Raj. His Highness was enamoured of the poetry of Chandi Das—the Vaishnab Poet of Bengal & was anxious to have them translated in Hindi . You have been selected out for the task, as the best hand available.

I think you have already received letter from his Highness. I also went down to Calcutta to meet & talk with you on the subject. But unfortunately I could not meet you.

However, kindly translate, as sample, a few of the Poems of Chandidas, to His Highness, for his appreciation.

Chandidas is now considered a world-renonwned lyrical Poet & it is a matter of great pride to all alike that his Highness is willing to get it translated in Hindi. I would therefore request you, Ieaving all other consideration apart, to at once set in the task & and be the renowned translator of the World-Poet like Chandidas—It is glory to you & and the Maharaja Bdr alike.

If you desire or are in need of any help in the matter of translation, or right understanding of the Poems, I am always at your service.

Praying God for your success

I remain yours flly Harekrishna Mukherji Sahityaratna.

निवेदन

किया तुमने जब, प्राणाघार !

उस स्वप्नों के स्वर्ण-लोक में कोमल पद संचार,
सोती हुयी लालसा जागी,
मैं निर्लिप्त सदा का

उस दिन पहले पहल हुआ अनुरागी।
जीवन के उस नवप्रभात में, हे प्रिय प्रान !

प्रथम किरण से जब तुम आए,
ज्योतिर्मय, अम्लान,

मेरा बाल सरल भोलापन— चिर-विस्मृति सा निद्रित-यौबन

> उद्देलित हो उठा, भर गया एक नया आवेश —भिला नूतन संदेश।

अवगुन्ठित जीवन में कुन्ठित सा बन्दी था प्यार,
सखे, भ्रिय प्राणाधार !
तुमने ही तो मुक्त कर दिया। एक बार,
फिर एक बार,
दर्शन हो, प्राणाधार !
राम अवध दिवेदी गजपुरी।

Respected Prabhu Maharaj,

I receive your letter today. Sorry to read about Sarat Maharaj. I fear, I will not see him again. When I think of the attack of Apoplexy and of his lying in unconscious state...

Dear Bajpeye je,

I receive your 2nd letter today by evening mail. Just a few hours before I have posted an answer to the 1st letter. Perhaps you will receive both the letters by the same mail. [At] the present time I am awefully busy in writing a novel Fancy. Sorry that I cannot meet you within the time you expect. Past a few days, a vagabond indeed I had been here to look after the press works and the Matwala. The Editor went to Mirzapur to perform the funeral ceremonies of his dead cousin.He came back after the ceremony done but before the time fixed, by the cause of coming of Ugra je + Vinode je

My dear Kanhaiyalal je,

I receive both of your cards. I am a little late to answer, sorry. You can publish the stories in your collection. For that one, you heard from Munshije, I request you not to place. It is obscene though instructive, not befitting a collection.

To

B. M. Tiwary M A. L .T.

My dear Tiwary je,

I have read you. You bow down before my poetry like a flower on a slender stem, she may accept. A monotony to me all you praise, new what I see is 'trashy' of mine in you: I enjoy: what a fine expression indeed! But do not mind. This causes the chance to call me now and then to twist the tail of the Univer sity-bulls, and today is the twelfth, the date of my lecture in the Allahabad University.

I am told that editor, The Bharat, at a glimpse even, is taken aback, and goes (in a bounden duty as if) to take in your notes' Translated forms, not leaving even the trashy one.

I read Dr. Sharma's translations and see no gap to point out Hugo's, -sounds' bomardment, tremendous to me, a timid Indian.

Don't mind if I am rich of my poor English, and delay not writing me your address full. Geetika is published, and I, watching the moment to send it to you.

Yours sincerely

Nirala

Dear doctor,

I received your letter but due to restriction I did not write you. Now, that I forget the principal points in the letter, I mere shoot in the void. Kindly do not feel otherwise, rather note down a second one is necessary, I shall guide Shiva Gopal to take down and drop it. I am teaching him Shakespeare.

Yours Nirala
